Alumni Basketball Game & Reunion

While a friendly game of basketball and a cook out were on the invitation, it was the happy smiles and fond memories that made the latest Wolf School alumni gathering so special.

Former teammates face off at the annual Alumni basketball game.

It's hard to believe that from a classroom of three in 1999 to our latest 8th grade graduation that Wolf now has over fifty alumni. But seeing is believing. From the first graduating class to the most recent, our alumni were well represented. Reminiscing parents and teachers joined in the fun, in awe of the changes and growth they saw.

Apps-olute Fun!

This year's summer program at The Wolf School was plugged in to the latest technology! A new one-week session in collaboration with TechACCESS of Rhode Island taught students fun and educational iPad apps. Incorporating the Wolf model of language, social, and sensory instruction, students were introduced to almost forty new apps that built and reinforced skills.

Favorite apps included Pinch Peeps and Cookie Doodle, but even math and writing apps were fun! Many of the apps were free and parents received information for utilizing these great applications at home.

According to Jennifer Martinous, Director of Therapy at Wolf, "Technology can make a huge difference for students with complex learning profiles. The iPad is particularly helpful as a hands-on, fun, and interactive tool that supports their ability to grasp and practice new concepts."

Many thanks to the Verrecchia Levy family for helping us make this program a reality with the purchase of several new iPads.
